DEDICATION

IRVING NICHOLAS COUNTRYMAN

Our principal, Mr. Countryman, was graduated from Hillhouse in 1901 and from Yale University in 1905. In 1907 he received a Master of Arts degree from the Yale Graduate School. After earning his degree, he became an instructor of Latin, Greek, and history at Dummer Academy in Brimfield, Massachusetts, and the next year taught Greek and Latin at the Salem High School in Salem, Massachusetts. In 1909 Mr. Countryman came to Hillhouse as a Latin and history teacher. Six years later he was made head of the history department, and from 1924 to 1926, on leave of absence, he was an assistant professor of visual education at the Yale School of Education. In 1926 he was appointed assistant principal of our school and in 1939 was made principal.

Interested in the somewhat unusual hobby of carpentry, Mr. Countryman has recently remodeled his summer home in Branford, where he and Mrs. Countryman now live. In what little spare time he has, Mr. Countryman also enjoys playing bridge.

In his many years at Hillhouse, Mr. Countryman has established an outstanding reputation as a school administrator, and as a man of true dignity and understanding.

ELDEN GREENWOOD BARBOUR

Mr. Barbour received his high school education at the North Yarmouth Academy in Yarmouth, Maine. Upon graduation, he entered Bowdoin College and was awarded a Bachelor of Arts degree in 1912. Later, in 1937, he received the degree of Master of Education from Bates. After teaching in various schools in New Hampshire for four years, he joined the history department of Hillhouse in 1929. For several years he was the faculty adviser of the Fencing Club and was also very active in the Connecticut Social Studies Association. When not busy with school work, he enjoys gardening and repairing old furniture. After leaving Hillhouse, where he will be remembered for his pleasant smile and quiet humor, Mr. Barbour hopes to be able to do some of the interesting things for which he has never had time.

AGNES JOSEPHINE COX

Miss Cox, a member of the practical arts department, is an alumna of Hillhouse, class of 1913. She attended the New Haven State Teachers' College and then received a B. A. in secondary education from New Britain State Teachers' College. She also took courses at Yale, Columbia, and the University of Maine. In her thirty-six years of teaching, Miss Cox has taught at Woodward School, Worthington Hooker School, Sheridan Junior High School, and Hillhouse, where she has been for the last six years. A very versatile person, she has taught a variety of academic subjects as well as typing and clothing. Pleasant and capable, Miss Cox has also been an invaluable adviser of the "Elm Tree" for the past two years.

EDWARD CORNELIUS CROWLEY

Mr. Crowley, head of the mathematics department since 1936, was graduated from Hillhouse in 1902 and then went on to Yale University. In 1906 he was graduated from the Yale Sheffield Scientific School, coming to Hillhouse as a teacher in 1910. Mr. Crowley is fond of playing cards in his spare time, and his mathematical mind undoubtedly makes him a tough opponent. He has no special plans for the future except that he will continue to live with his family in his West Haven home. During his forty-one years at Hillhouse Mr. Crowley has acquired many friends and has been liked and admired by both students and teachers, who will remember him for his wonderful sense of humor and his never-failing cheerfulness.

HOWARD AUGUSTINE NEWTON

Mr. Newton, a member of our science department, received his high school diploma from Winchester High School in Winchester, Massachusetts, in 1902 and was awarded the degree of Bachelor of Arts from Amherst College in 1906. A member of the Hillhouse faculty since 1915, he has taught for forty-five years. Mr. Newton is an accomplished pianist, as those who have heard him play classical music in our assemblies and at various club meetings can testify. In addition to being the adviser of the Stamp Club, he himself has been for many years a member of the New Haven Stamp Club. Upon Mr. Newton's retirement, he and Mrs. Newton will spend winters in their home in Spring Glen and summers in their new cottage on Cape Cod. Mr. Newton and his devoted wife have set for us all an unforgettable example of valiant courage and faithful, unswerving performance of duty.

Foreword

To you, the members of the class of 1951, the theme of this year's Elm Tree, world peace, may appear a dream, rather than an actuality. In spite of our youth, we realize that we are facing a troubled, confused, and uncertain future. Since our very early childhood, we have known no true peace. Jet planes, atom bombs, H bombs, all of which were unknown to our parents at high school age, are familiar words to us. Many of the boys in our class will enter one of the services upon graduation; some have already done so, as indicated on page 109 of this book. In one way or another, each one of us is certain to have his life affected and changed by the days in which we live. These are, indeed, the "times that try men's souls."

Yet, in spite of these frightening facts, we face the future with faith and courage, even with thankfulness, believing that we still have much for which to be thankful. In a world where so many have been deprived of their freedoms, we may still speak our minds freely, we may choose our life vocations, we may worship according to our individual faiths without fear of persecution, and we may live in human dignity. Nor have we given up our hope for world peace, which, with the help of God, we believe can still be accomplished through the United Nations.

In times like these, however, there is a dangerous temptation to adopt a build-for-today-for-tomorrow-may-never-come philosophy. The Elm Tree is not built on such a philosophy. On the contrary, it is patterned on the advice of DeWitt D. Wise, chairman of the yearbook division of the Columbia Scholastic Press Association, who said at the conference last October, "Let us think, when we build, that we build forever." The Elm Tree is a permanent record of the class of 1951. Each one of us is pictured and described in it. Although our individual memories of Hillhouse may differ, they unite herein to form a composite picture of Hillhouse as we knew her. Here is an Elm Tree built for your future, as well as your present, enjoyment.

In the same manner, let us think, as we build our lives from day to day, that we build forever. This attitude will increase our own moral and physical strength and the moral and physical strength of our beloved United States. This attitude will help us, in spite of wars and rumors of wars, toward the attainment of the ideal we so long for – world peace in our time.

The members of the Elm Tree boards wish to thank sincerely and deeply our faculty advisers: Mr. David Reichgott, chairman; Mr. Robert Gosselin, editorial, layout, and business; Mr. Frederick Fay, art; Miss Alice Hogan, literary; Mr. Albert Gray, photography; Miss Agnes Cox, junior board. Without their help and enduring patience, it would truly have been impossible to produce this edition of the Elm Tree.

WORLD PEACE – OUR HOPE FOR THE FUTURE

I am a senior now; this is my last year at Hillhouse. My graduating as a member of the class of 1951 will mark the end of my fundamental schooling and leave me with a wealth of book knowledge and a hesitant philosophy on life.

I am seventeen, with the world before me. I have reached the point where, ordinarily, I could choose my life's work, face the world, and apply my ambitions and knowledge.

My thoughts have turned to college, for I feel that I would benefit greatly from a higher education. I have always believed that college offers a young man a great deal in preparing him for his future vocation and position in society.

But the insecurity and threat of war has made me hesitant and unsure of what the future does hold for me. This feeling of indecision presents a serious problem to any 1951 high school graduate who hopes to attend college, for he has no assurance of attaining a higher education or of continuing his studies when conditions of war have taken precedence. Confused by these uncertainties, yet forced to maintain his scholastic average, he ultimately becomes discouraged by the burden he must shoulder, disheartened by the questions to which no answers can be given.

I consider myself a member of a unique generation – unique in the sense that we have been brought up and schooled to the infamies of war. Peace has become a mere pause. Almost half of our lives have been shadowed by war. To be sure, we have not seen war as the less fortunate in the countries of Europe and Asia have, but even to have lived under its evils for so long has proved destructive and demoralizing.

I was eight when Pearl Harbor came. Hardly knowing why, I was disturbed when the boy next door went into service and when my friend's father wrote home from North Africa. After peace was declared, I was quiet and saddened by the little gold stars in the windows.

That was nearly six years ago. Since that time I have come to realize much more fully the significance of war. I have been forced to realize it. The books and newspapers I read, the radio commentaries I hear, and the discussions in which I partake compel me to realize it, for they are all about the incessant struggle for peace and a better world in the future. And beneath them all lies the terrible possibility of that total war which sometimes appears inevitable.

For war has become the "A" or first letter in the world-wide alphabet of destruction, slavery and chaos. It has been undeniably instilled in our beings in the form of fears and heartaches. We find ourselves thinking almost constantly of the aggressions, the war machines, the atomic bomb, and the atrocities that have become synonymous with modern war. Yet man himself has not changed as methods of warfare have. He still seeks with all his being the life to which he is entitled – a home, family, security, and peace.

What is the answer for the youth of today, for the 1951 graduate, for you and for me? What must we do? What can we do? Whether we plan to enter college or to go to work, we must not give up hope, but rather, strive harder to insure ourselves of a more secure future. Faced with a national emergency, we will probably, most of us, serve for a period in the army, navy, or marines. If necessary, we will fight and die for our country, as those before us have done. But it is all too apparent that the problem does not end there. War is not the final solution. We have seen the fruits of "the war to end all wars." The nations of the world have suffered enough.

It is for us, as future citizens, to devote ourselves each day to achieving a world of peaceful living, religious, economic, and political. The task is difficult, seeming even impossible at times. We can all, however, do our parts by preparing ourselves to be worthy citizens, capable of choosing leaders of ability; of developing national ideals of peace, charity, and integrity; perhaps of becoming political leaders ourselves. We can face the future with courage and confidence in this great democracy of ours, and with faith in an ultimate world peace. The road ahead may seem beset with peril and almost insurmountable difficulties, but it can be the highway to world peace, and, as Americans, it is our sworn duty to construct it.

FOR FREEDOM AND WORLD PEACE

"Peace rules the day where reason rules the mind."

Jane Carlson

To the Class of 1951:

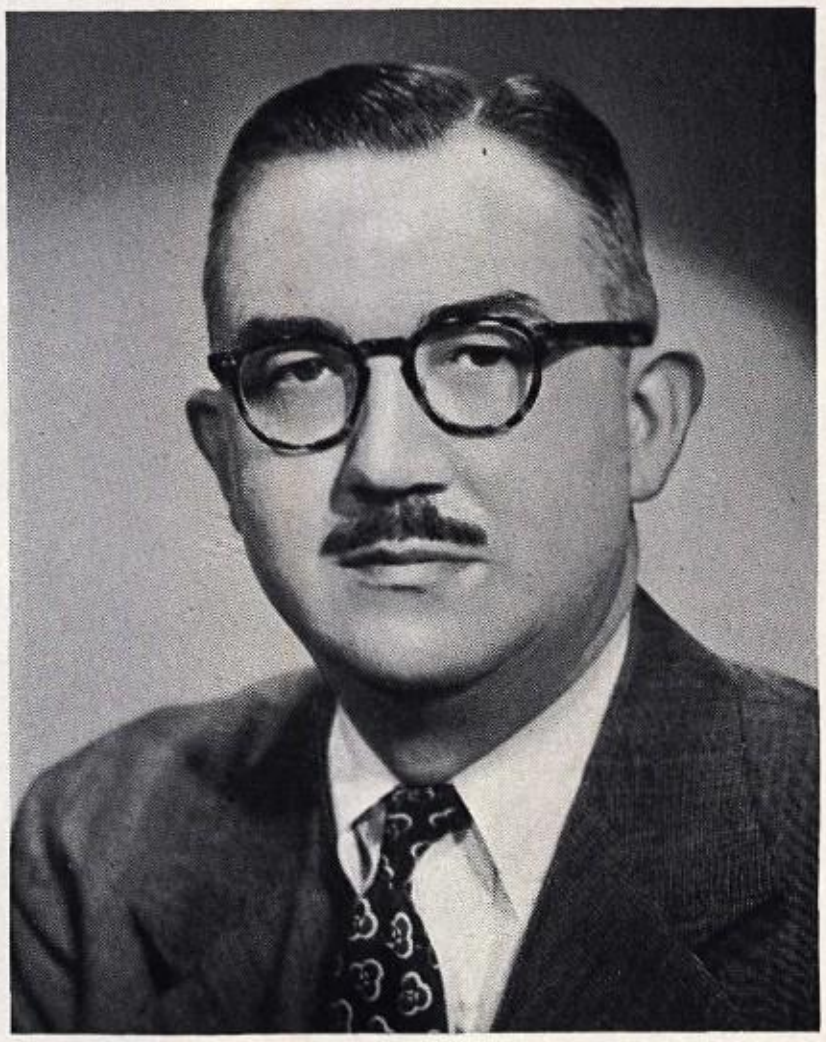
We are living in an era in which the frustration and defeatism of life and an all pervading cynicism are rampant. Communism, with its subversive and missionary zeal to impose upon the whole world its repulsive and repressive reign of terrorism, is waging by trickery and deceit, if not as yet by open war, a stupendous struggle with the forces of democracy. These are, indeed, perilous times, when the outlook is dark, particularly for young people who are perplexed about what the future has in store for them.

The hope for America rests upon us all, but especially upon the younger generations who will soon assume the great responsibility for keeping our country a strong and mighty defender of righteousness and of justice. This can be accomplished if the citizens of tomorrow are virile and right-living men and women.

It is my firm conviction that you, who are now about to be graduated, are made of the right stuff and have profited by your education. I am confident that by your efforts and the efforts of millions like you the dark clouds which now hover on the horizon will be dissipated by the brilliant sunshine of victory, and that our American way of life will prevail.

May I extend my best wishes for a very happy and prosperous future?

Cordially yours,
IRVING N. COUNTRYMAN, Hillhouse 1901
Principal



To the Class of 1951:

You have now completed a very important milestone in your life. In retrospect you young people give thought to that which you have accomplished during your high school years. Your accomplishments can be measured in terms of many experiences. If you have developed ideals, desirable attitudes, intelligent self-control, fair play, consideration for the rights of others, and have learned to work together for the benefit of all, then you are headed on the right road in the preservation of our democratic way of life. This is education in its most meaningful sense.

There are many forces in this present chaotic world which are attempting to rock the very foundation upon which our democracy was founded. We look to your generation to assume the responsibility in renewing and further developing our way of life. By assuming this leadership, your generation and future generations will be able to demonstrate to the world what is meant by freedom and human understanding. Of course, the end product will be a peaceful and happy world.

Now, with your sights set in the right direction, I should like to take this opportunity to wish each and every member of the Class of 1951 my most sincere good wishes for the future.

Most sincerely,
Robert T. LeVine, Hillhouse 1926

PRESIDENT'S MESSAGE

Classmates:

Each year at Commencement a nostalgic feeling envelops the graduating class. Fond memories of high school are recalled with a deep sentiment; partings soon to come are viewed with sadness.

This year the future of our class is darkened by the threat of war. Despite the unsettled conditions, however, we must go forward with a trust in God and a belief that He will help us achieve our ambitions in spite of the obstacles that will face us.

Hillhouse has given us much throughout the past years. We have increased in knowledge, developed in character, and gained in friendships. All of these happy experiences have made us better citizens, prepared to serve our country and community.

I would like to thank Betty, Ronnie, and Phil for their co-operation and assistance in handling all the class affairs. Working with them has been a happy experience which has bound us into a lasting friendship.

Being your president has meant a great deal to me, and I am deeply indebted to you all for giving me the opportunity to serve such a wonderful class. May the future hold happiness and good fortune for you all.

Sincerely yours,
BILL

THE STUDENT COUNCIL

After electing officers, the Student Council of 1950-1951 embarked on what was to prove a very successful year, for under the direction of Milton Caplan, president, the council completed many worthwhile projects. Officers in this group, in addition to Milton, were: Irma Alpert, assistant chairman; Susan Peck, secretary; Robert Lassen, treasurer; and Albert Mero, assistant secretary. Faculty advisers for the council included Miss Mildred Colbert, Mr. Howard Gartland, Mrs. Esther Hendricks, and Mr. Max Small.

Among the projects that the Student Council sponsored this year was the collecting of money to purchase Christmas presents for children in the New Haven hospitals. In addition, the council decided to adopt a student government with a national setup, whereby the entire student body would elect student government officers and would be kept well informed on all school functions. Under this new plan, which is still in the formative state, there will be a cabinet, council, and class organization.

Committees worked during the year on two projects: improvement of the school and revision of the constitution. Members of the committee for improving the school included Howard Ravis, chairman, Irma Alpert, Judy Carangelo, Pamela Jewett, and Ruth Zudekoff. The committee for revising the constitution consisted of Edward Donnelly, chairman, Edith Dahlin, Michael Kaufman, Mary Jane Malloy, Bruce Munro, and Concetta Petrillo.

"Lord, make me an instrument of Thy Peace!"

Class Poem

PEACE OR WAR

Dear Lord, in a world where troubles never cease,
Make me Thy instrument of eternal peace.

It was a tranquil room into which I crept,
Where ancient warriors and mighty empires slept.
Along the walls in gloomy stalls there lay
All kinds of bloody hacked trophies on display.
In one there stood, wood eerie with decay,
An ancient, black machine that blocked the way
Like massive crossbow used to dispatch
Fiery arrows into some fiendish match.
Another stall held swords and broken blades;
And I heard screams like those of rapéd maids
Come from the next. Then saw I shattered ships
With burned out hulls and black, charred strips.
Succeeding bins were filled with white markers,
The naked bones of one-time conquerors.
I passed the gory rest, their dread direness
Filling my heart with unwanted ire.
This scene of awe and horror passed away
As the last of the cells turned to survey
My contempt for its foul devilry;
And violence, so scorned, did backward flee.

The ground about me changed its bleak color.
Nature's velvet green speared a royal floor.
New chambers appeared upon my every side;
And strong, wide vines sprang up to divide
The empty chambers from the evil cells,
And stood between as trusted sentinels.
A tree grew and years were minutes long;
Beneath my feet were blooming in a throng
Flower beds arranged in different lines,
Spelling Pax Vel Bellum in their designs.

The empty chambers stand there still,
Which we with love or hate are free to fill.
Ours is the choice, the right to make it,
To keep the peace, or wantonly to break it;
So let us now kneel and with fervency pray,
As before God, the Lord of all, our choice we lay:

Dear Lord, in a world where troubles never cease,
Make each of us Thy instrument of eternal peace.

CHARLES MELILLO

"What Peaceful Hours I Once Enjoyed - - - -"

As September of 1947 came about, a peaceful and timid group of boys and girls, the members of the freshman class, were welcomed into our immense school, then known as New Haven High School.

Within a short time, becoming accustomed to the new way of life, we were swept into the swing of things. The S.A.B. ran many social functions, all of which were very successful. The York Square Players, aspiring theatrical producers, actors, and actresses, presented a performance of "The Romancers" by Edmond Rostand.

A new stadium was dedicated at Beaver Pond Park during the Hillhouse-Commercial football game. During the year the football team did very well, coming through as victors at the Turkey Day clash with West Haven. This being to all of us the most important game of the season, happiness and peace reigned once more throughout the school.

With the retirement of Mr. Ralph Wentworth, former principal, we found a few faculty changes. Dr. Louise Wrinn was appointed head of the history department and Mr. Donald S. Kimball, head of the technical arts department.

At the turn of the new year, the Junior Executive Board sponsored "The "Snowball Dance" in our gym. Bill Retenauer and his orchestra supplied the music.

We excelled in all sports freshman year, with the hockey team moving into the District Loop. Most of us spent a good many of our evenings in the Arena, listening to Mr. Gartland say, "A penalty of one and a hawf minutes." Our basketball team won the state championship in the New England Interscholastic Basketball Tournament.

At the final assembly we saw many of our friends receive awards. The Fire Prevention essay contest was won by Jacquelyn Shappell; the English award was won by Suzanne Ross, with honorable mention going to Ruth Bainton and Libby Robinson; the State Latin contest was won by Phillip Thorpe; and the mathematics award went to Russell Winter.

During the summer we were saddened when our popular assistant principal, Mr. Emmons Bowen, died. In the fall he was succeeded by Mr. Robert LeVine, a former biology teacher.

During our freshman year our class was small, but in September, when we became sophomores, our numbers quickly grew, for we were now augmented by sophomores from the junior high schools.

Our football team proved excellent during the year and again won the Thanksgiving game, this time with a score of 20 - 6. Our track team won second place at the Connecticut Interscholastic Athletic Conference. Winners in other sports were Barbara Wadell, girls' free throw contest winner, and Joan Van Der Maelen, swimming champ and representative from Connecticut at the National Indoor A.A.U. Swimming and Indoor Meet at Daytona Beach, Florida.

Miss Nakagami, an exchange teacher from Hawaii, taught history in Hillhouse that year. At an assembly which she directed, Miss Nakagami presented songs and dances of her native land and caused great delight in the audience when she placed a lei around Mr. Countryman's neck and kissed him in true Hawaiian fashion.

Our first sophomore dance, "Sophomore Hop", was held in the school gym in January. As entertainment we were delighted to have Charlotte Burrell in one of her famous tap dances.

During this same month we heard with sorrow of the death of the former assistant superintendent of secondary education, Mr. Ralph Wentworth, who was at one time principal of Hillhouse.

One of the highlights of our sophomore year was the presentation of "Our Hearts Were Young and Gay" by the York Square Players.

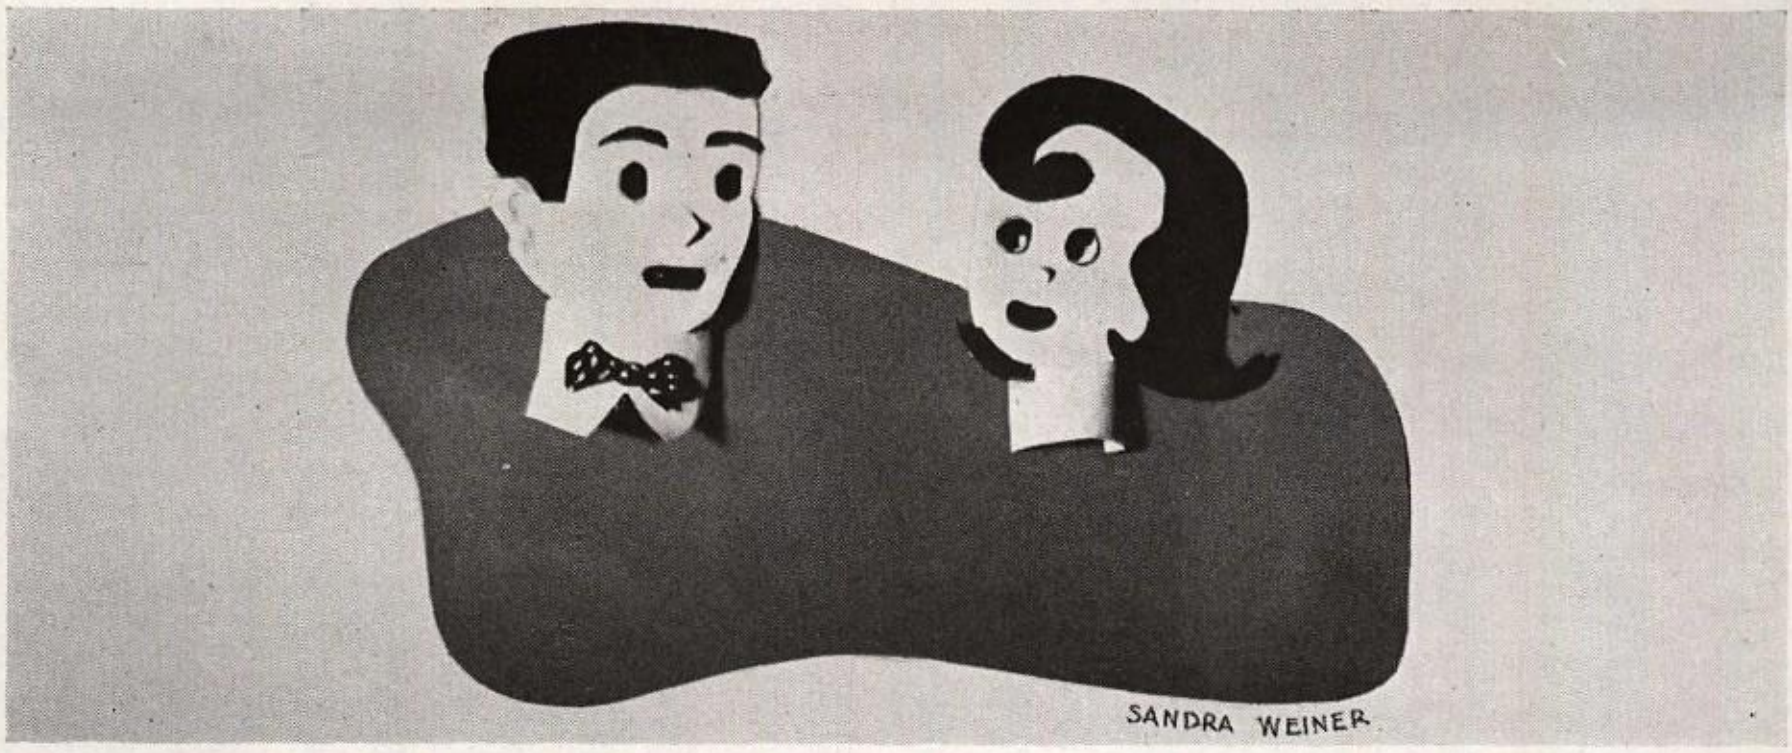
Many of our more musical classmates went to Hartford to compete in the All-State Band and Orchestra contest. Others went to New York to represent the Sentinel and Gleam at the Columbia Press Association.

Awards sophomore year included: Civitan award for outstanding citizenship, Charles Gorry; Phi Beta prize for the outstanding story in the "Gleam", Suzanne Ross; National Society of Colonial Dames essay contest, Herbert Cohen and Malcolm Siegel. Stanley Ebner, Charles Gorry and Donald Timlin were awarded prizes in the Omega Delta contest in English. The William Babbitt prize in plane geometry went to Audrey DuBois; Carol Sasso, Michael LeBonia, and Fred Corrato won the Phi Epsilon Alpha prize in Italian.

After a wonderful summer vacation, we were all anxious to return to school, which was now a comprehensive high school, officially named James Hillhouse High. A school day from 8:30 to 2:30 was begun, with six one-hour periods. A cafeteria was installed which served hot lunches which we all put to good use with the long school day. The maze of tables in the center of the cafeteria was quite a change from the old carved booths which had lined the far walls. The system of "waves", in and out of the lunchroom every five minutes, had us confused for a short while, but it wasn't long before we took the change in our stride.

From the gym we could hear the cheerleaders, Carol Ann Sasso, Antoinette Blahitka, Barbara Costantini, Betty Daly, and Joan Van Der Maelen practicing for the games. Our first chances to see our cheerleaders and the football team in action was at a night game at the new stadium in Beaver Pond Park. This same evening the stadium was dedicated to the memory of Emmons Bowen by Tom Hugo, the president of the class of 1950.

Football seemed to have an added interest for most of us that year. The crowd at the Yale Bowl on Thanksgiving Day was the largest ever to turn out for one of our high school games. And what a wonderful thrill to see an airplane flying above the Bowl carrying the short but powerful slogan, "Beat West Haven!"



This bizarre advertising had been brought about by a persuasive crew of solicitors, backed by unbeatable school spirit.

The organization meeting of the Junior Elm Tree Board saw a turnout of sixty members of our class, who were eager to participate in the organization of the class book.

At the end of October the Hillhouse gym was the setting of a "Get Acquainted" dance, sponsored by the Senior Executive Board.

The changing of the school day from six to seven periods, with the seventh period for clubs, office hours, etcetera, was brought about by the combined efforts of the Student Council, which was headed by Dave Ransom, Mary Lou Pedroni, Bill O'Hara, and Charles Gorry. The Student Council brought about many changes and improvements during the year and did a fine job in laying the groundwork for the next year's council.

"L'il Abner" was the theme of a dance held by juniors at Troup Junior High on December 2. Everyone wondered who the strange man was until Dean Hewlett took off her mask. The junior class provided wonderful entertainment, with Phil Miolene rendering one of the popular songs of the day and, as a climax to this wonderful dance, with a magician, hired by the class, performing amazing tricks.

Many of our history classes traveled to Flushing Meadows to see men of different nations united in a common cause, peace, at the General Assembly of the United Nations.

The first junior prom in the history of our school was held February fourth at the Lawn Club. The committee for the dance was headed by Bob Cassella, chairman, and Marie Fortune, assistant. One of the highlights of this dance was the presentation of baby orchids to every girl attending.

The class chose Bill O'Hara, president; Andrew Ciaburri, vice-president; Betty Daly, secretary; and Philip Miolene, treasurer. To head our classbook, Libby Robinson and Barbara Keane were made co-editors-in-chief, and Janet Shapiro, business manager.

The new Sentinel staff was chosen, headed by Richard Missan, editor-in-chief, and Lois Scherban, business manager.

At the final assembly, prizes were awarded to Charles Gorry for excellence in scholarship and character, Suzanne Ross for being the outstanding girl of the junior class, Barbara Lupino for renaming our school, and Hester Cohen for her knowledge of the United States Constitution.

The last social event of the season was an "Aloha" dance, held at the Masonic Temple on June 21. This successful dance was presented by the juniors as a farewell dance to the seniors. One of the high points of the evening was the introduction of the junior class officers to their classmates. Fred Knodel and Patricia Brassil served as co-chairmen.

At long last the awaited time had arrived. We were now proud and lofty seniors. This year brought one astonishing innovation to the hallowed halls of Hillhouse—co-ed classes. This change received whole-hearted approval, although it was rather difficult to concentrate on the laboratory preparation of hydrogen when the hero of the football team sat across the aisle.

Everyone vowed that this was to be his very best year, but there was one sobering event to dim our happiness. The peace that we had all prayed to keep was disrupted by the Korean War, and several Hillhouse students entered the service.

Many student activities were quickly started. The Student Council, led by Mickey Caplan, chairman, with Irma Alpert, Susan Peck, Robert Lassen, and Louise Guidone assisting, was soon organized.

After forty-seven years as New Haven High, and at an inspiring rededication program, our school was officially named James Hillhouse High, the name it had been known by for years to the students.

Before we knew it, senior elections were upon us. Bill O'Hara, Betty Daly, and Phil Miolene were again elected to the positions they had held the previous year, and Ronny Thompson was elected vice-president. The committee chairmen were: Bob Wells, Class Day; Bob Cassella, Prom; Edward Donnelly, Class Gift; and Rose Iannolo, Class Motto.

Once again West Haven bowed before the powerful Hillhouse team, led by Captain John Sullivan, in a thrilling game at the Yale Bowl.

At a senior assembly four aspiring orators, as winners of the Brotherhood contest, delivered with eloquence their speeches. The winners were Eugene Pergament, Tamara Jonas, Paul Krentzman, Robert Chernoff, and Rhea Kantner, alternate.

Before an appreciative and inspiring audience, talented Gary Lynes put on a preview of several numbers from "Chorus Girl", for which he had written all the music. Gary also gave Hillhouse a new fight song to help lead our teams to victory.

After an excellent start, the basketball team, led by Bill Petrillo and Andy Ciaburri, lost the first game in the state tournament, which eliminated us from the New England championship competition.

Because our class was the smallest Hillhouse had had in a long time, we were unable to hold the traditional prom in the Payne Whitney Gym. Instead, the Taft ballroom became the scene of the "Senior Formal". To the strains of Eddie Wittstein's orchestra, we danced away this wonderful night. For all of us, May 18 would long be remembered as the height of our Hillhouse days.

Although it seemed unbelievable, it was really our Graduation Day! After the whirling days of good-byes, signing of Elm Trees, and attending Class Day, we found ourselves marching slowly into the final page of our class history—Graduation. On the flower-decked stage of Woolsey Hall, the class speakers, James Doughan, Tamara Jonas, Rhea Kantner, Richard Missan, William O'Hara, Eugene Pergament, and Suzanne Ross said the formal good-byes for us all.

THE ELM TREE

September, 1950 —. For the first time in history, men of all free nations of the world were uniting in the Korean War in an attempt to halt aggression. At home, we seniors picked up our schoolbooks to return to Hillhouse for our last year in high school.

Soon after school opened, the Elm Tree boards got their work started under the guidance of Mr. David Reichgott, chairman, assisted by the other faculty members, Miss Agnes Cox, Mr. Frederick Fay, Mr. Robert Gosselin, Mr. Albert Gray, and Miss Alice Hogan. With the coveted rating of Medalist from the Columbia Scholastic Press Association for the 1950 Elm Tree to encourage us, we began our labors with real enthusiasm. While Jan Shapiro and Louis Krevolin, editors of the business and the art boards respectively, worked with no more than the usual ups and downs connected with their jobs, co-editors Barbara Keane and Libby Robinson carried on together to fulfill the responsibilities presented by their appointments.

The committee responsible for boys' sports was headed by Harlow Richardson and Robert Munson; girls' sports, Hetty Cohen and Sheila Cohen; publications, Anne Williams; and organizations, William Martin. The Elm Tree welcomed two new additions to the board from Wilbur Cross High School, Pauline Czarkosky and Jasmine Kawood.

Working together in harmony, the three boards have tried to capture in the 1951 classbook moments that would fade in one's memory if not imprinted upon these pages, so that perhaps twenty-five years hence, the members of the class of 1951, though scattered all over the world, may remember with pride their days spent at Hillhouse.

Every year at the end of May, the students at Hillhouse receive their copies of the Gleam, our outstanding literary and art magazine. Of the many students who read and enjoy the Gleam each year, only a small percentage understand the great amount of work that goes into assembling this publication.

With Ruth Bainton as editor-in-chief; Lucille Petrillo, associate editor; Milton Caplan and Charles Melillo, assistant editors; and Miss Amy Weeks, faculty adviser, the twenty members of the editorial board meet every Friday, seventh period, in room 117. At these meetings the members judge the manuscripts which have been written by the students and submitted through their English teachers. Judging is completed by marking the manuscripts "accepted," "considered," or "rejected." Manuscripts that have been stamped "accepted" are then sent to the art board, of which Mr. J. Louis Szemanczky is faculty adviser. Here they are suitably and attractively illustrated by the board, under the leadership of Edward Maffeo.

Each member of the business board of the Gleam, managed by Joan Alexander and advised by Mr. Samuel Straus, prepares a talk to be given in the various home rooms in order to urge students to subscribe to this magazine. At the beginning of the new year, English teachers collect the subscription money from the pupils for the business board. It is particularly important that the students as a whole support the Gleam, since it carries no advertising, and since these subscriptions are, therefore, the sole source of income for this excellent magazine.

THE SENTINEL

Carrying out the tradition of many years, the 1950-1951 Sentinel staffs again produced an excellent paper, containing informative, interesting, and well written articles, editorials, features, and sports coverage.

Under the guidance of Dr. Marion C. Sheridan and Miss Ruth C. Lindwall, faculty advisers, the staff and board members, headed by Richard Missan, editor-in-chief; Harold Levy, associate editor; and Suzanne Ross and Judith Straka, assistant editors, have devoted much of their time and energy to the paper. The several six-page issues which came out during the year and the Christmas issue attracted particular interest and commendation. The members of the editorial staff included the following: Joanne Aylward, Robert Chernoff, Sherwin Gorenstein, Suzanne Hahn, Jane Howlett, Philip Miolene, and Carol Roy.

It is unnecessary to say that a paper cannot continue without a business board. Headed by the business manager, Lois Scherban, the business staff and board, under the direction of Mr. Lee Spiller, faculty adviser, strove successfully to make both ends meet. The business board members were: Jack Arovas, Millicent Cashman, Doris Greenberg, Peggy Heaphy, Betty-Ann Heenan, Hope Kayes, Mildred Mendygral, and Rita Rosenbloom.

Delegates from the Sentinel attended the Columbia Scholastic Press Association conferences in New York and the 1950 Connecticut Scholastic Press conferences held in Manchester High School. At the latter conference Richard Missan was one of the main speakers.

At the Sentinel banquet in March many members of the retiring boards received the Quill and Scroll key for excellence in journalism.

For the issues of September, 1949, through June, 1950, the Sentinel received international honor rating for superior achievement, the highest award given a high school newspaper by the Quill and Scroll, and the George H. Gallup award in recognition of its selection as one of the nation's most distinguished high school papers.

SENIOR CHORUS

No senior assembly is complete without the talented efforts of our large senior chorus, which is directed by Miss Ellen Celentano. At the Christmas assembly in particular, the chorus received many favorable comments on their singing of the beautiful Christmas songs. Special music was presented at the rededication of our school and at the brotherhood assembly.

This year the senior chorus also participated in a greater New Haven concert which was presented in Woolsey Hall in April.

Since Hillhouse is a member of the Opera Guild, many of the members of the senior chorus went to New York in January to hear famous operas at the Metropolitan Opera House. Operas attended by the group this year were Il Trovatore and The Magic Flute.

The Hillhouse Chorus will participate again this year in class day and in graduation exercises.

ORCHESTRA AND BAND

"Hillhouse, Alma Mater—". That melodious tune, played by the Hillhouse orchestra, will ring in our ears long after graduation.

The orchestra, directed by Miss Lia Bissonnette, could be heard practicing every Thursday and Friday during the year. They played at all our assemblies and offered a special program of music at the Christmas assembly. In addition, they presented a special program of their own at one of the assemblies and proved themselves both versatile and talented. Besides their work in school, some of the members of the orchestra also took part in the annual all-state concert.

The band, under the direction of Mr. Gillotte during the football season, played at all the games. Its powerful music was a driving force, encouraging the team to victory. Since that time, Miss Bissonnette has had charge of the band, which will, as usual, combine with the orchestra and play for graduation.

One of the oldest and most popular clubs in Hillhouse, the York Square Players, is again functioning. Its wonderful presentations were greatly missed last year. Now it has returned to the list of enjoyable extra-curricular activities.

This year the club set a precedent by allowing sophomores to become active members, but the seniors were not to be outdone by the undergraduates when competition for the Christmas play arrived. Alfred Tong, Evelyn Tickell, and James Burrell had leading parts in "Christmas Bells," which was well received by the audience.

Following the Christmas play, the drama club's first meeting was enhanced by the visit of Mr. Paul Lukather, a student of the Yale Drama School, who spoke on the advantages of a broad education in furthering one's dramatic career.

The York Square Players set another precedent in 1951 by sponsoring the first senior class play, which was performed before a combined audience of seniors and their parents. It was a musical comedy, written by two seniors, Barbara Beauregard and Diane Nagle. The cast included: Charles Gorry, Roberta Malinowski, Robert Wells, Frances Rocklin, Kevin Donnelly, Barbara Beauregard, Ronald Thompson, Marilyn Ginsberg, Philip Miolene, Phyllis Brookstein, Fred Knodel, Charlotte Weiner, Rose Marie Cristiano, Robert Cassella, and Diane Nagle.

The play was a great success and the members of the class of '51 who took part in the production hope they have started a traditional spring activity.

The officers of the York Square Players are:

President ..... Joan Van Der Maelen
Vice President ..... Robert Lassen
Secretary ..... Irma Alpert
Treasurer ..... Myrna Blynder

SPANISH CLUB

Members of the Spanish Club were given experience in Spanish conversation and acquainted with the costumes and ideas of the Spanish countries when they met once a month under the guidance of Mr. Crosby.

At Christmas, "Christmas Costumes in Spanish Countries," a skit showing what Spanish people wear at Christmas and how they celebrate the holidays, was shown.

The officers of the club were: Richard Zitser, president; Malcolm Levine, vice-president; Susan Lasky, secretary; and William Martin, treasurer. The program committee, which planned the activities for the year, consisted of Esther Weiner, Nedra Franford, and Barbara Rosen.

CHEMISTRY CLUB

Smoke fumes poured from the chemistry lab, and we visualized our friends turned into mad scientists. Then we remembered that they were members of the Chemistry Club, and that they were merely fulfilling the club's purpose: "to satisfy the interest of chemistry lovers."

Mr. Tripp is the faculty adviser, and the officers this year included John Munro, president; Charles Mellilo, vice-president; Leona Rapaport, secretary; and Rosemarie Cristiano, program chairman.

THE EXPERT TYPIST CLUB

Under the supervision of Mrs. Coppinger, a new club was formed this year. This club is open to all typing students who have the ability to type fifty words a minute. At the end of the year seniors in the Expert Typist Club are eligible to compete for prizes which are awarded for accuracy and speed. The officers of this club are: president, Jean Yurczyk; vice-president, Geraldine Gregorini; secretary, Ann Dippolino; and treasurer, Barbara Knudsen.

THE RED CROSS COUNCIL

This year, as in previous years, the Red Cross Council, under the direction of Mr. Sproule and Mrs. Nikkel, faculty advisers, has been kept busy with collections of clothing, making of gift boxes, and performing volunteer work.

The council, made up of representatives from every homeroom, in December elected the following officers: president, Theodore Lapides; vice-president, Charlotte Burrell; secretary, Joan Myers; treasurer, Kiernan Doyle; and secretary-treasurer, Marcia Martin.

SAVE A CHILD FEDERATION

Jacquelyn Shappell, chairman of the Save A Child Federation, and her committee, Fanny Lou Hubbell, Janice McLaren, Mary Means, Gladys Savoye, Beverly Treat, and Anne Williams, have done outstanding work for the organization this year. First, they sponsored a homeroom drive, collecting money to support some unfortunate child in Europe or to buy layettes for babies across the sea. They supplied textbooks for an entire school in France, collected twenty bags of clothing for needy children, and collected material for the New Haven Cancer Society.

CANASTA CLUB

When the new and complicated card game, Canasta, swept the country, it did not miss Hillhouse High School. The Canasta Club met with great success for its second year as a popular extra-curricular activity at Hillhouse.

Club officers this year were: Stanley Wheeler, president; Flora Singer, vice-president; and Howard Ravis, treasurer. Mr. Gallup was faculty adviser.

ITALIAN CLUB

President Josephine Mezzanotte, Vice-president Robert Abbadessa, Secretary Jacqueline Paige, and Treasurer Joan Cappiello, under the guidance of Mrs. Steffa Harrison, led the Italian Club through a very enjoyable and successful year. Enrolled in the club were sixteen seniors, who heard lectures in Italian, attended an Italian moving picture, and held several parties to add to the social enjoyment of the group. In these ways, the purposes of the club, to hear Italian as it should be spoken and to understand it, were fulfilled.

FRENCH CLUB

Wandering into room 106 during the year, you might have been amazed to hear only French phrases spoken – and not only "Parlez-vous francais?" either. Information would have been parlayed to you that this was the French Club, under the direction of Miss Mildred Pond, faculty adviser; Marion Bassett, president; Rhea Kantner, vice-president and program chairman; and Paul Rosenstein, secretary. This group met every other Thursday and planned many interesting projects, such as French correspondence, speakers, and musical programs. This year's club was really a success. Mais oui!

PHOTOGRAPHY CLUB

A new and vital addition to the Photography Club is a beautifully equipped dark room which was contributed to the school by the class of 1950. The technique of photography, the use of more complicated and professional cameras, and the development of pictures were among the lessons learned by the members this year.

Their instructor and adviser was Mr. Gray; the officers were John Thomas, president, and Milton Caplan, vice-president.

Twenty-one Bowl victories! Once again Hillhouse High School topped off its football year by defeating West Haven. In spite of several defeats at the hands of less important rivals, the finale was put on with the typical Hillhouse finesse, and West Haven was defeated by the score of 26-6.

Spurred on by Captain John Sullivan, backed by Larry Bosley, Santo Listro, Bill Rosen, Edward Huggins, Russell Hamilton, Paul Amore, Frank Williams, and Larry Zernitz, and with a line consisting of Bill McCarthy, Randolph Brown, Walt O'Connell, Jim Doughan, Gerry LaMonica, Orville Tice, John Pagliaro, Bill Holley, Niles Pierson, Harold Lynch, and heavyweight Hubie Saulsbury, the team was able to aggregate 179 points to their opponents' 98.

Always ready to get out on the field and display their ability were substitutes Bill Cohen, Bill Murray, Gardner Hubbard, Paul Hatje, Ralph D'Amico, Arnold Goldberg, Anthony DeCaprio, James Kenefick, Charles Bertero, Bill Hartigan, Vincent Gagliardi, Joe McAlpine, Stanley Ebner, George Dixon, Michael Casey, Bill Shearer, and Frank DelGreco.

Speaking for the class of 1951, we extend sincere congratulations to our gridders for another successful season.

HILLHOUSE vs. WARREN HARDING — 6 - 13

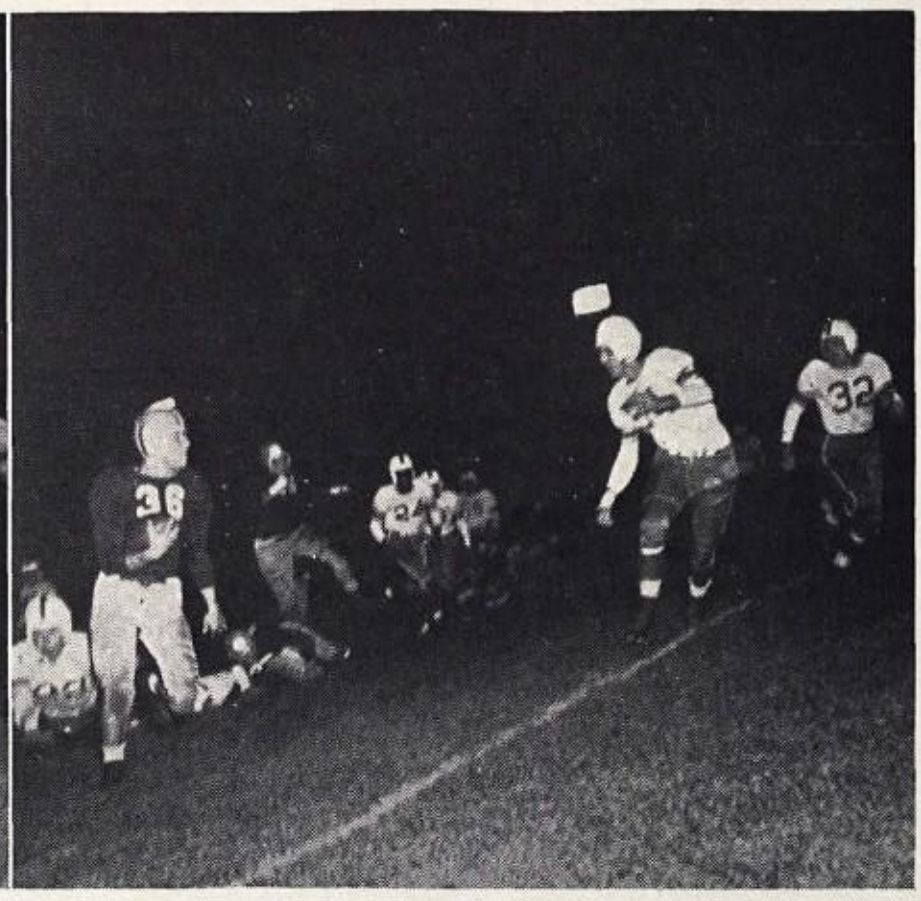
In spite of their heavier line, Hillhouse had to award the honors to the underdog in the Ac's opening game against Warren Harding. Eddie Gee of Bridgeport, one of the fastest players ever seen on the Hedges Stadium turf, scored two running touchdowns to Captain John Sullivan's one. A statistical victory might help to cheer up the saddened spirits at this point, with Hillhouse racking up eleven first downs to Harding's three, and 219 running yards to Harding's 155.

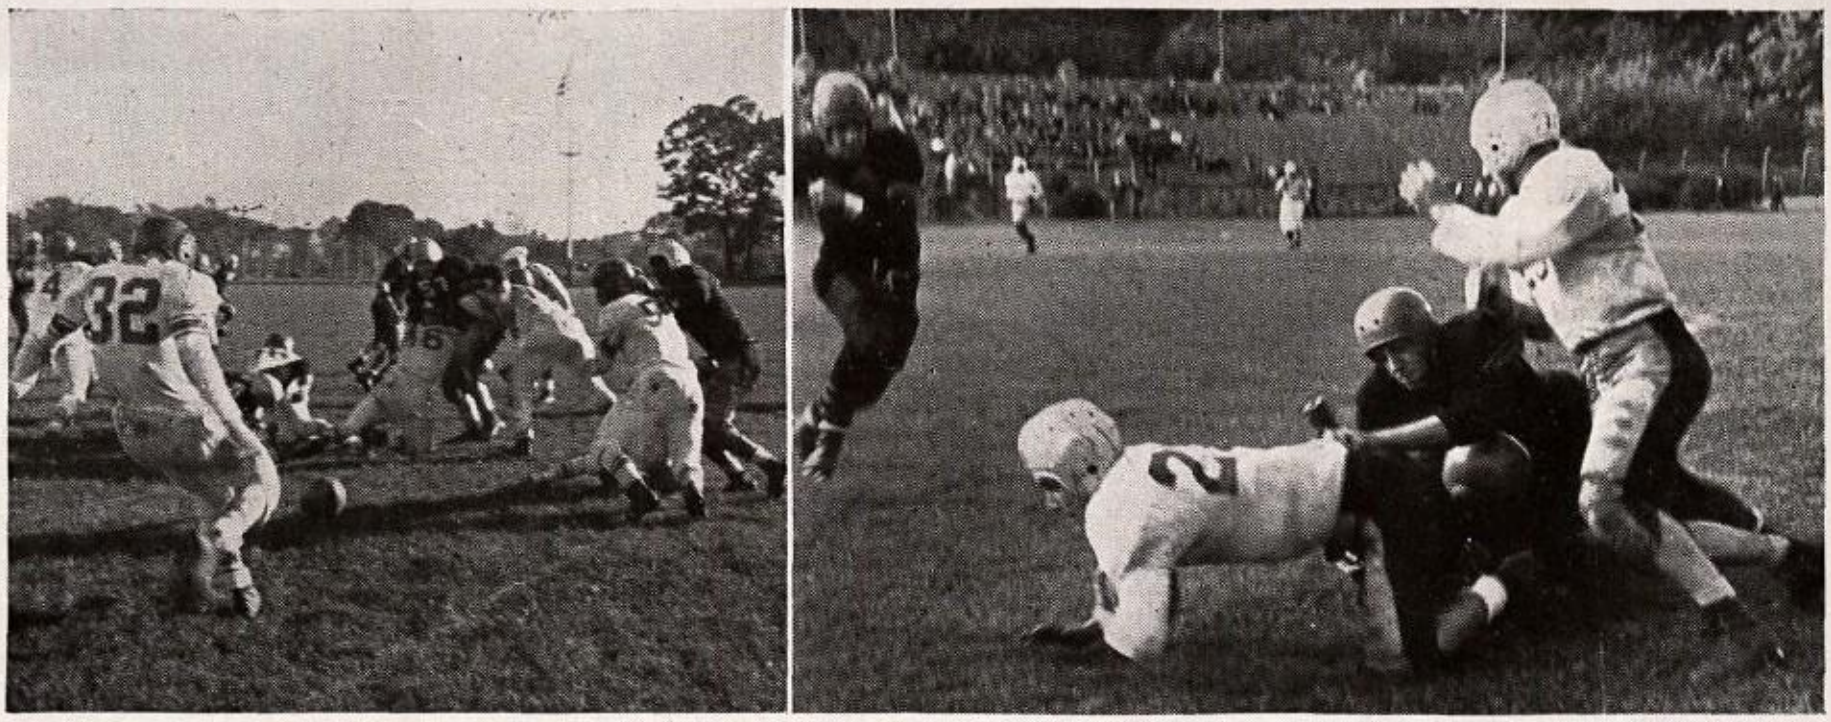
HILLHOUSE vs. ANSONIA — 19 - 20

Coming out on the bottom once again, the Bendermen lost the heartbreaker of the season in a hard-fought battle against Ansonia. Even in the dark atmosphere surrounding this defeat, credit must be given to Larry Bosley for his spectacular running and Santo Listro for his brilliant quarterbacking. Although Hillhouse executed many excellent plays, it just seemed as if the Jarvis gridders had a strategy to top each one, as they pushed their team to a 20-19 victory.

HILLHOUSE vs. CROSS — 19 - 7

Once again in the thirty-year battle between Hillhouse and Cross, the Acs came out on top. This sets the record up to 23 victories. Captain John Sullivan pushed through the line to score two touchdowns, and Larry Bosley, at the end of a 31-yard dash, scored the other. The highlight of the game was a 24-yard pass from Avalone to Marrone to score the one Cross touchdown.





HILLHOUSE vs. HAMDEN — 13 - 6

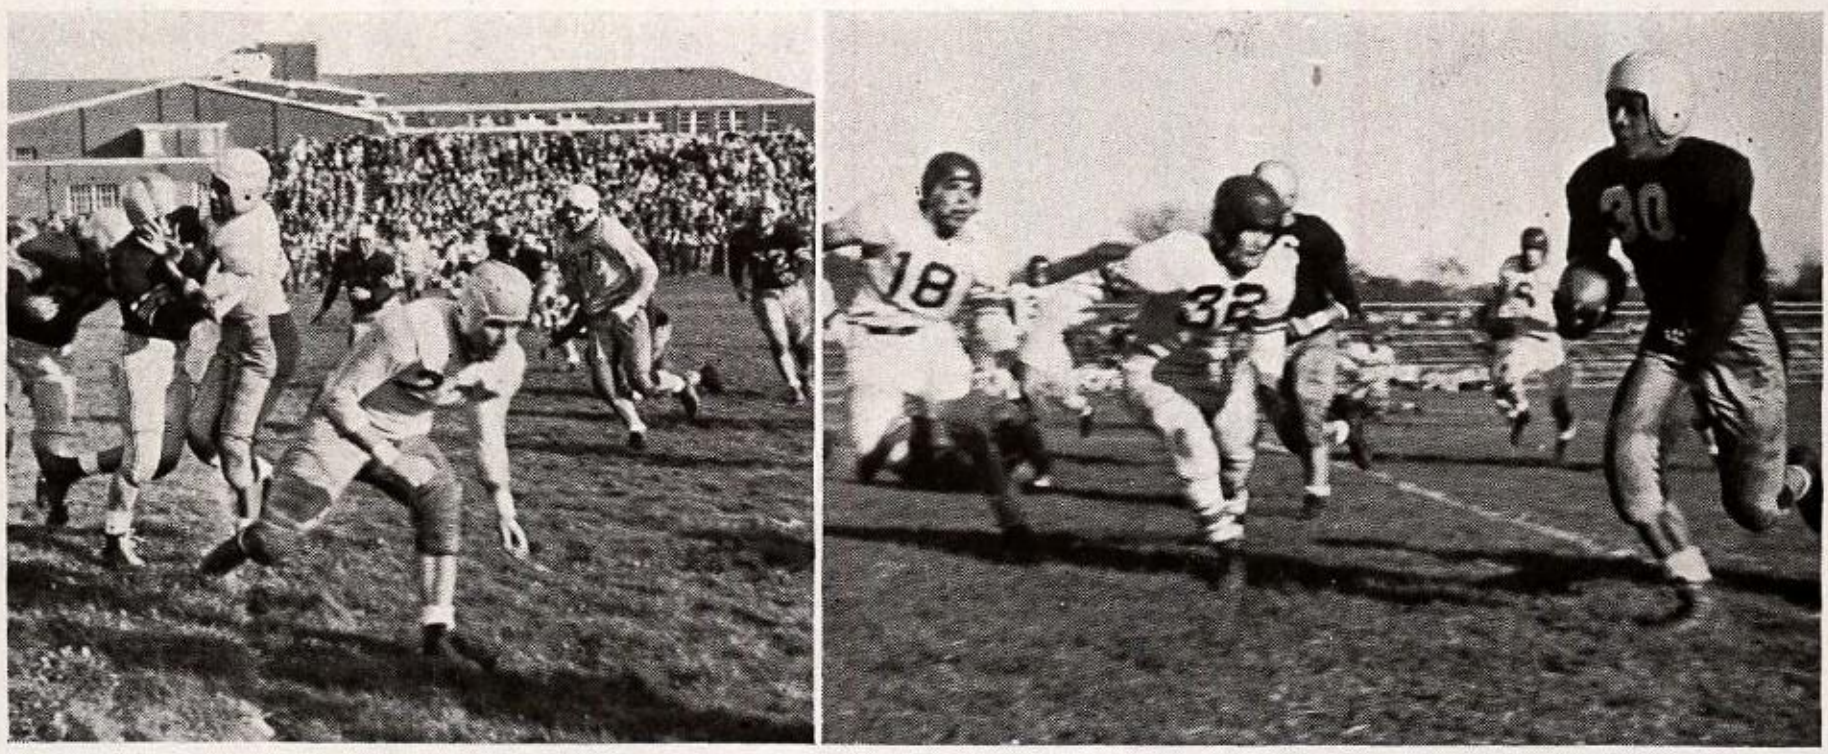
Coming out of a 6-6 tie in the final period, Hillhouse rolled over Hamden for a 13-6 triumph. Frankie Williams wriggled through the left side of the line to score the decisive touchdown after an almost intercepted pass was received by Bill McCarthy. In a 72-yard drive, the outstanding play was a 30-yard pass from Listro to Sullivan.

HILLHOUSE vs. STAMFORD — 18 - 33

In spite of Hillhouse gridders' early lead of 12-7, the Stamford players gave them a thorough trouncing of 33-18. The statistical victory went to Hillhouse, with ten first downs to Stamford's nine, but somehow that didn't help much.

HILLHOUSE vs. HARTFORD — 13 - 0

The Hillhouse team put all their scoring power into the third quarter to defeat Hartford Public 13-0. Bill McCarthy, receiving a 17-yard touchdown pass from Listro, scored the first touchdown. Sullivan followed with a shifty scoring run of 73 yards.



HILLHOUSE vs. NEW LONDON — 32 - 6

At Mercer Field in New London, Hillhouse scored another one of its opponent-crushing victories, as it steamrollered over Chapman Tech. Sullivan scored three times, and Bosley and Williams, once each, to push the scoreboard to a final standstill at 32 - 6. Santo Listro and Larry Zernitz both kicked with all they had for the extra points.

HILLHOUSE vs. NEW BRITAIN — 33 - 7

In the postponed New Britain game, the Hillhouse team put on a terrific scoring push to make a score of 33-7. Frank Williams was by far the star of this game with his touchdown pass, touchdown run, and excellent blocking. Jim Doughan also figured into the laurels with his two interceptions and remarkable runbacks.

HILLHOUSE vs. WEST HAVEN — 26 - 6

With Sullivan scoring three times, Hillhouse once again rolled West Haven into the familiar field in Yale Bowl. Before a crowd of 25,000, Bosley and Sullivan outran the West Haven team to come from behind and make a final score of 26-6. In this game Hillhouse also walked off with the New Haven District League championship. The outstanding play of the game was Sullivan's 63 yard scoring run. The Hillhouse defense consisted mainly of Amore, Pagliaro, Brown, and Tice, with Williams at quarterback.

Third row: W. Bloomingdale, S. Leopold, J. Grandy, R. Snell, Coach Culver.

This year the Hillhouse soccer team once more ended the season with more wins than losses.

The first game of the season, with the Yale Freshmen, was cancelled. In the next two games Hillhouse did not do too well, as they lost to both Roger Ludlowe, 1-0, and Choate, 4-1. The two games which were played with West Haven both ended in ties, the only ties of the season. This year Hillhouse played two games with Milford Prep, winning both of them. The two games with our neighbor across the street, Wilbur Cross, were won by Hillhouse with 1-0 scores. Thus, the soccer team this year, under Coach Paul Culver, finished the season with a record of four wins, two ties, and two losses.

Co-captains of the soccer team were Stanley Puzycki and George Emerson. The outstanding player of the season was George Everson. Other seniors on the team were Ned Bialer, Louis Pascale, and Andrew Remisseuski.

BOWLING

Sparked by Cliff Slocum, the bowling team met all comers. The Ac Keglers, coached by Mr. Johnson, and captained by the high scorers, Cliff Slocum and Michael Esposito, took first honors once again by winning the district league title. Things were pretty even in December, when the first round of play ended in a three way tie. With the turn of the year and the start of the second round, Hillhouse swept over Hamden to win three out of three games. A week later the Acs bowled down a traditional rival, Boardman. The Acs came through again, to win two to one against East Haven. This was the game which clinched it for the Acs, and for the second year in a row the bowling team received the District Bowling League trophy.

Our swimming team this year splashed its way to an almost even number of victories and defeats, acquiring, in their fifteen meets, seven wins and eight losses. This record was far offset, however, in the nine league games, in which they came out on top with seven wins and two losses. Sparking the team this year were the seniors, Pete Alison, Ronald Goldberg, John Thomas, and Ronnie Thompson. Able backing for the seniors was provided by the juniors, Ted Fitzsimmons, Larry Fletcher, Harold Hoffman, Harvey Harkness, and Bob Lassen. The sophomore lineup consisted of Pete Ould, Harry Wexler, Bob Finn, Bob Lampson, Paul Rosenstein, Marc Levenstein, Walt Fries, Dick Bartram, and Marty Daniels. The manager was Jay Glaser.

John Thomas, the captain, broke his previous record at the Y. M. C. A. by establishing a new record of 2:8.4 for the 200 yard free style. Thomas also set a record in the Naugatuck pool for the 200 yard free style. Ted Fitzsimmons set a record of 53:5 in the state wide 100 yard and 2:17.8 in the 220. The pool record at theY. M. C. A. for the 100 yard free style was also set by Ted, with a time of fifty-five seconds flat. Not satisfied with these achievements, Fitzsimmons went on to take the New England championship for the 100 and 200 yard free style. In the 200 yard free style John Thomas came in second, but in the C. I. A. C. tournament he came back to conquer the 50 and 100 yard races.

BASKETBALL

This year Hillhouse, under the coaching of Sam Bender, once more qualified for the Connecticut Interscholastic Athletic Conference Tournament. In the first game Hillhouse lost to William Hall by one point in overtime.

In this year's schedule Hillhouse managed to win all but four games. In the first game of the season Hillhouse started out by giving Waterville, Maine, a disastrous 50-21 defeat on their own court. A seven game winning streak was broken when Hillhouse was defeated by Bristol 44-39 in a benefit game. Not once did Hillhouse lose two games in a row, the losses being scattered well throughout the season.

The team this year was co-captained by high-scoring Andy Ciaburri and Bill Petrillo. The set shots of Jack Alderman provided a help throughout the season. Randolph Brown, James Davins, and Frank Williams should also be placed among the stars of the 1950-1951 basketball season.

The Hillhouse team this year was one of the best, even though a sad ending to the season came in the losing of the first game of the tournament.

HOCKEY

Under the expert coaching of Mr. Culver, and the captaincy of Jerry Wallack, the Ac pucksters again took to the ice for the '50-'51 season. A top-notch team, they pitted themselves against Hamden, West Haven, and Cross. It didn't look too good, we must admit, but both Hamden and West Haven had teams this year that were generally considered to be the best teams seen in the Arena for the past two or three years. The Acs played their usual good brand of hockey again this year, although, looking at the record, one might think differently. Those boys on the team, Jerry Wallack, Red Clyne, Ralph Lane, Johnny Serfillipi, Charlie Ford, Ted Hoponick, Fitzi Fitzsimons, Arty Weiss, for example, as well as the others, deserve lots of credit. They showed fight and fine sportsmanship, even with the odds against them. The last game of the season, played against Wilbur Cross, wound up after some really tough fighting, in a one-one tie, which finished the season, with the Acs tied with Cross for third place in the district league. The first string, with a few exceptions, was made up of seniors—boys who won't be playing for Hillhouse again. The prospect for a top team next year was clearly shown, however, since sophomores and juniors of this year, like Howie Gartland, Jack Martin, and Ted Hoponick, will be back plugging for Hillhouse again. We all would like to have seen a winning team, but, win or lose, the Acs were always tops.

BASEBALL

Every spring "Play ball" is a familiar cry about the country. At Hillhouse, as elsewhere, the 1951 baseball season attracted considerable attention.

In the first five games, Hillhouse managed to keep in the lead, winning over Hamden, 12-6, and Cross, 11-7. Choate and Hartford defeated Hillhouse 8-3 and 4-3 respectively.

Among the outstanding players on the team was Larry Zernitz, who, after five games, had a record of two homeruns, one triple, two doubles, and a batting average of .444. Jim Davins, Santo Listro, and John Sullivan were hitting well, with Sullivan doing a good job of catching also. Frank Caprolione, a sophomore firstbaseman, also showed considerable promise.

Golf Team

The 1951 golf team started its spring training on schedule this year with Ray Stawicki, Floyd Lane, Bruce Hayes, Billy Bloomingdale, and Joe Diglio. To this date the team has played seven matches, winning four and losing three. With this record the team has a fair chance in the coming games of holding down a good position in the C. I. A. C. tournament.

RIFLE TEAM

The Hillhouse rifle team took to the field for a fair season. Due to scheduling difficulties, some of the teams usually on the agenda were not met. Two matches were scheduled with each of the following teams: Torrington, Loomis, Staples, and Hamden. Although two matches were scheduled with Choate, only one took place. The records show eight losses out of nine matches, but do not show the fact that the team took third high school position in the National Sectional Match, with a score of 693, and third high school in the State Match, with 694. Their position in the latter match put them above Torrington and three of the schools which they were unable to meet: Crosby, Middletown, and New London.

Consistent high scorers were Fred Knodel, Bill Koch, and Pam Jewett. The latter was rated as high girl in both the state and national sectional matches.

Although a third of the team is leaving this year, prospects are good with lots of new material coming in.

GIRLS' SPORTS COUNCIL

The Girls' Sports Council has been the backbone of all girls' sports at Hillhouse since the year 1936. It was founded by Miss Dorothea Stephan of the physical education department for the purpose of furthering the interests of physical development and promoting good sportsmanship. It also assists the department in carrying out competitive tournaments.

In their sophomore year, the members are elected to the council to represent their teammates in a particular sport. During their junior year, they attend the meetings, which are held five times a year. They also collect for the scrapbook articles and pictures that pertain to their sport. In their senior year, they help in arranging the tournaments, recording points, and writing reports of their sports.

Girls consider it a great honor to belong to this organization, for only girls of character, sportsmanship, and high scholastic averages are eligible for membership.

In the early spring every year the council plans an all-girl assembly, for the purpose of presenting athletic awards, which consist of numerals, letters, charms, and trophies.

The last event of the Girls' Sports Council this year was a get-together at West Rock Park, which gave the sophomores a chance to meet the girls with whom they will work next year. At this time election of officers was held.

Many thanks go to the council's advisers: Miss Jennie Schurig, Miss Virginia Lee, and Miss Ruth Greenwood, for their endless work with the Girls' Sports Council.

A whistle blows, the center forwards bully, a bright orange ball is driven down the field; another field hockey game has begun. This familiar sight might be seen almost any Thursday afternoon at Beaver Park, when the field hockey classes, under the direction of Miss Schurig, went through their practice sessions and played their games. This year there were not enough seniors for a complete team, but what the girls lacked in numbers they more than made up in spirit and enthusiasm.

In place of the usual class competition, all those taking hockey were divided into two teams, the red and blue. This plan worked well and proved beneficial to all. The experience of playing as a team with members of all classes developed a strong feeling of cooperation and understanding.

Seniors participating were: Barbara Florio, Marie Fortune, Libby Kasimer, Barbara Lupino, Libby Robinson, Anne Williams, and Joan Van Der Maelen.

Archery

E. Wallace, A. Ginty, N. Ogle

ARCHERY

On brisk fall days the Archery Club assembled. Hunting for lost arrows or nursing a bruised finger did not stand as obstacles to the Hillhouse Robin Hoods. A bull's eye was not an unusual sight to witness. Ann Ginty and Nancy Ogle were the senior members of the club, Ann being a participant in the archery tournament. Whether they had high or low scores, the girls all agreed that they had obtained much enjoyment from this sport.

GIRLS' BOWLING

On Tuesday afternoons the Broadway Bowling Alleys were all in use by spirited Hillhouse girls. It was not unusual to hear the comments, "Strike!" or "Spare!" because these occurred so often. The girls displayed good sportsmanship at all times.

The victors in this year's senior tournament were Judy Berman, Barbara Byer, Ruby Komisar, and Irma Leventhal, captain. These girls were confronted with stiff competition, but proved themselves worthy of the title, "champs".

VOLLEY BALL

Representing the senior girls' volley ball team were twelve enthusiastic girls. They chose as their captain Susan Lasky.

It was mainly because of the girls' eagerness that they were able to play so satisfactorily, despite the competition among the players as they vied for positions on the first team. Although in their first game against the juniors the seniors suffered defeat, they were more successful in later contests.

The game itself is a thrilling experience, centered around hitting the ball, keeping it in the air, and slamming it over the net to the opponent's side. However, points are acquired only when the team accomplishing them is serving.

Basketball

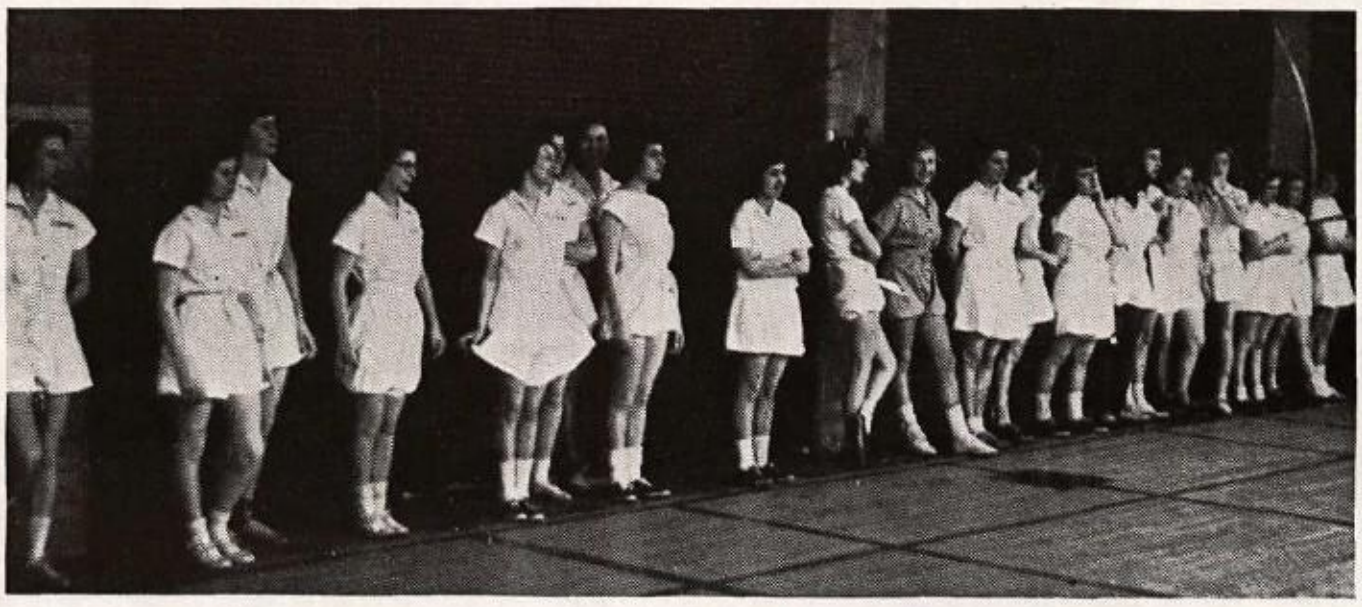
GIRLS' BASKETBALL

"Are the score keepers, timers, and captains ready?" With this familiar question affirmatively answered, the ball is tossed and another exciting senior basketball game has begun. The class of 1951 was represented on the court this season by two teams, the Brown and the Yellow, both holding excellent records.

The Brown team suffered only one defeat at the hands of the juniors, while the Yellows took top honors, winning every contest except for one thrilling game with their junior rivals which resulted in a tie score.

Captains were elected at the beginning of each game, and under their able leadership, the teams, composed largely of girls who had played together during their sophomore and junior years, displayed remarkable teamwork. Outstanding players on the court were Sue Lasky and Queen Vaughn, who constantly amazed all with their precise hook and set shots. Barbara Lupino, Martha Randolph, Marie Sherrod, and Barbara Wadell also pleyed a large part in helping the seniors complete a very successful season, made perfect by winning the school championship.



Badminton

L. Fappiano, J. Timpson, S. Peck, E. Snow

BADMINTON

To most people a bird is a little being which flies contentedly from tree to tree, but to the senior girls taking badminton, a bird can mean only one thing, a shuttlecock. As this particular species of bird is unable to go of its own power, the girls ably send it on its way with their beautiful low serves and tricky place shots, giving our feathered friend quite a workout during the Tuesday afternoon practice sessions.

Divided into groups of two, the girls, after extensive drill work, entered the intra-class matches, and Sue Peck, with her partner, Jeanette Timpson, finished the senior tournament in first place. This successful team then went on to represent the class of 1951 in their bid for the school championship. They beat the sophomores, but the aggressive junior team was a little too powerful for the seniors, who lost by a score of 15-12, 15-12. Although they did not capture the school title, the girls will agree that they enjoyed their afternoon meetings in the gym.

Girls' Tennis

GIRLS' TENNIS

Time: A chilly Saturday morning in October.

Place: Yale tennis courts.

Scene: Two female rivals facing each other, rackets in hand.

What's the big mystery? There isn't any! It's just Hetty Cohen congratulating her opponent, Sue Lasky, upon the latter's success in winning the game. However, this has been no ordinary tennis match. Why? Because Sue has won not only a game, but the title of Senior Tennis Champ as well.

Sue's victory was achieved after lengthy competition among the many seniors who entered the tournament in the fall. In the finals, despite Hetty's skillful playing, Sue came out on top in the decisive game with the close score of 6-2, 6-3.

Table Tennis

S. Cohen, S. Rohinsky, B. Costantini, B. Byer.
Missing: J. Shapiro.

TABLE TENNIS

"Slam it!" "Nice shot!" were the typical exclamations which might be heard coming from the girls' gym any November afternoon. This, of course, meant our annual ping pong tournament was in full swing again. This year the four girls in the semi-finals were Barbara Byer, Sophie Rohinsky, Barbara Costantini, and Sheila Cohen. After playing off their games, Sophie and Barbara Costantini battled it out for the senior championship. Although Sophie put up a good strategy, she finally surrendered to Barbara, who is now both our senior and school champion. Nice going, Barbara!

Special Awards

First row: M. Fortune, B. Florio, B. Wadell, S. Lasky
Second row: J. Van DerMaelen, L. Kasimer, S. Cohen, B. Costantini

SPECIAL AWARDS

Upon entering Hillhouse in her sophomore year, each girl determines to strive throughout her three years in the school to earn her honor award. This award is a silver medal, signifying good sportsmanship and participation in various sports until one has acquired five hundred points. These points are awarded only to those who take part in outside activities, not in connection with gym.

This year eight girls have earned the right to an honor award. In addition to these awards, the tennis cup was awarded to Connie King, the badminton cup to Barbara Farnham and Joan Hanson, and the basketball plaque to the seniors. The volley ball plaque will be awarded at the close of the season.

ACKNOWLEDGMENTS

To Mr. Ernest L. Stone, Supervisor of Art for New Haven Public Schools, and Miss Ellen P. Klingler, Assistant Supervisor of Art for New Haven Public Schools, for their generous contributions of time and valuable suggestions in aiding preparation of the art work for The 1951 ELM TREE.

To Miss Natalie Wilkinson and Mr. Joseph Hennington, art instructors, New Haven State Teachers College, for their constructive criticism and helpful suggestions.

To our Hillhouse faculty: for their patience and forebearance with the many, though necessary, classroom interruptions, and for their general wholehearted cooperation.

To Mrs. Honora Coppinger, typing instructor of the Hillhouse Business Department, and Christine Karajanis, senior student in advanced typing, for their most generous contributions of time and effort in furnishing typed material.

And finally, to our advertisers and patrons, whose generous support aided so materially in making possible the 1951 ELM TREE.
